Office 365 Migration Makes Progress

Progress continues to be made on the deployment of Microsoft Office 365. The DoIT migration is now complete and the Department of Labor is in the final stages. A number of other agencies, boards and commissions are testing in preparation for full deployment in the very near future. New Office 365 information can be found on the DoIT Service Catalog.

Enterprise Licensing to Bring Many Benefits

Following a competitive RFP and evaluation process, NiCUSA (egov) was recently selected as the winning vendor for enterprise licensing. Following reviews, the resulting master contract will enable all agencies to benefit from a common enterprise platform, which will provide an opportunity for agencies to participate in an initiative with an agency-specific statement of work that is aligned with an enterprise vision. Information on the new platform can be found at eGov Solutions.

IT Resource Provider (ITRP) Program Kicks Off

After much effort from the ITRP Team, the multi-step contracting process is now live. The new resource provides a pool of pre-qualified vendors to offer another option for IT resource needs. There are more than 50 prequalified businesses already registered and agency training is well under way. A list of vendors and the guidelines can be found on the ITRP page of the DoIT website.
